“ the service was beautiful in the words that were spoken, And to those of us that could not be there for his children. Know that we were there spirutually. thank you to the funeral home for making it possible for some of us to have closure.The video was a little blurry and Hector was hard to see but it brought us peace to know that at least spirutaually we were there

May our padrinos rest in peace for all of eternity. Together for ever.

“ You know something, in the small amount of time me an outsider from a different shift always saw this man happy! I'm genuinely sad especially in these hard times for both family and the community that such a great guy passed away. He always came in to work jolly and always ready to go and I never knew that he grew up around this area I've come to love and appreciate and I regret never stopping to talk more about him because he seemed like the guy to put family first and help others in need.

“ Many, many years of hockey memories shared with your wonderful family- “grandma and grandpa”. Never a game, party or event did they miss for their grandsons, their love for the game, family and BYHA was strong. We recently shared memories, laughed and hugged this past alumni game, it was just like old times, didn't miss a beat-BYHA hockey family forever. Lydia and Hector, such special people, we are so sorry for your loss, our deepest sympathy to you all. May you find comfort in the strength of family and friends who loved them so dearly too. Hugs and love from our family to yours. Kevin and Amy Hatch

“ Both Hector and Lydia were wonderful people and good friends for years. I remember him telling the story of when he and family came up to Wisconsin, when he was younger. He said his English was limited and the only words in English for food he knew were "Ham & Eggs". He said every time they stopped to eat, of course he would order ham & eggs and by the time he got to WI, he had had his fill of ham & eggs. LOL ! He was a Corker.

Another time, we all got the idea to buy motorcycles, Hector was on the short side but still bought one with the front tire on an extended fork, a little harder to handle. Well we all thought we were pretty tough, until we came up to a stop sign and because Hector's legs barely reached the ground, he started to lose his balance and was about to fall over with his bike, when he noticed some kids at the corner. He quickly pleaded with the kids to help him, "Help me kids, help me!" It was pretty embarrassing for all of us. LOL

A lot of Hector's relatives worked at Birds Eye, called Libby's back in the day, including his father Nieves. You can just imagine having to take orders from your supervisor and then also having your Dad telling you what to do and meeting his approval for the job you were doing, also. A lot of good times, though? They will both be missed!
